1 Programming the shell

The structure of the program follows the description of the assignment and will thus not be repeated.

The only problem encountered was at implementing the exit command. It appeared that the new line character, that is typed in by the user to request the program, is included in the input. A possible solution is to include the new line character in the `strcmp`

- 1
- trim command
- newline at exit
- trim: later benefits at splitting pipes
- mysh2
- mysh3
- exit in pipe
